--Of Local Interest--

Enforce the vagrant law.

The Little Park is a beauty.

Fox, the photographer, Friday.

The street sprinkling is a success.

Nothing but "pollerticks" Monday.

The spring fishing has been very poor.

The post office is being painted and papered.

New rock is being spread on some of the streets.

Garden truck is doing much better than was expected.

Candidates were as thick Monday, as fleas on a cur's back.

The magistrates will have the court house painted. It is sadly needed.

Lancaster has the best telephone system and most polite and obliging operators in the state.

The ladies have planted flowers in the five beds made in the little park, and it will soon be a thing of beauty.

The Ladies Aid Society, of Christian church will give a strawberry supper in early part of the season. Date will be given in next issue.

The Danville "Prep" nine played ball in Lancaster Friday, the home team winning. The visitors were not only good players but perfect gentlemen.

Big Sale of Cattle.

Ruble & Glass, of Camp Nelson, sold 800 cattle at $1.25 and 50 at $1.25. They were sold to Myers & Co., of Baltimore.

Manager James A. Beazley is doing fine work in keeping down the dust. The sprinkling is done whenever the dust becomes thick. This is done with the fire hose.

During the Athletic Tournament the W. C. T. U. will serve refreshments at the Rest Rooms. Ice cream, strawberries, etc., will be served at very reasonable prices.

The K. P. Lodge is now in a flourishing condition; and is made up of some of the best citizens of the town. Every Friday night they have work in one of the degrees. The K. P. Lodge is "a good" one.

Rev. H. N. Faulkner, on invitation of Rev. Mr. Tindler, held the pulpit at the Christian church Sunday morning. Mr. Faulkner is not only a splendid preacher, but a clever gentleman, beloved by all. He preached at the Presbyterian church Sunday night.

For State Senator.

In this issue appears the announcement of Hon. R. L. Hubble, of Lincoln as a candidate for State Senator. Mr. Hubble is well-known in Garrard, and has many warm supporters. He is thoroughly qualified for the place, and is in the race to win.

Contest at Stanford.

Interior Journal:—E. H. Beazley announces that the 11th annual elocutionary contest for young ladies will be held at Walton's Opera House June 17th. A number of entries have already been received and this promises to be a most interesting contest.

Kentucky Editors.

The Kentucky Press Association will meet in Louisville Monday, June 13, elect officers, attend to routine business and leave Tuesday night for a visit to the World's Fair. A most pleasant trip is in store for the boys, and every editor in the state is figuring on going.

$1.50 to Cincinnati, Sunday.

The L. and N. will run another $1.50 excursion to Cincinnati Sunday. The Zoo is now wide open, the theatres have not closed, base ball is in full blast and many other attractions are open. Train leaves Lancaster at 5 a. m. Returning, leaves Cincinnati about eight o'clock.

We understand the ladies composing the Cemetery Committee will soon resume the work of beautifying the local City of the Dead, which is good news to those having an interest there in. They have done much good work but there is still room for improvement and we trust the ladies will receive all needed assistance in the noble work.

Splendid Address.

We have heard many compliments passed upon the remarks of Hon. Wm. J. Price in delivering the address to the graduating class Tuesday evening. Mr. Price is a son of Mr. Wm. C. Price, head and beloved by many Lancaster people. Mr. Price is a gifted speaker and a Christian gentleman, whose brilliant future is rejoiced in by a host of friends here in his native town.

County Sunday School Convention.

The county Sunday School convention will be held in the Methodist church Tuesday. The program, as published in a recent issue of The Record, is an interesting one, and if you haven't a copy yet one. Last year, the country churches showed much more interest in the meeting than did the Lancaster people, and it is hoped that all interested (and every body should be) will not only attend the meeting but assist in entertaining the visitors.

See Enoch, the Manfish, at the Carnival. His feats under water are very daring, and will interest and amuse you.

Sunday School will not be held at Herring's school house Sunday afternoon, on account of the decoration exercises.

Lightning struck Judge Robinson's hen house and killed every chicken therein. The Judge would be in had shape should a Methodist camp meeting strike the town.

Decoration Sunday.

The Knights of Pythias will hold their annual decoration of graves next Sunday. The exercises will be held in the Christian church at two o'clock in the afternoon, consisting of songs, prayer and an address, at conclusion of which the Knights will proceed to the Cemetery and conclude the services, placing a design on the grave of the deceased brethren.

To Raise Maple Trees.

The seed from Maple trees is now ripe and falling. A four-year old Maple is worth 25 cents. There is nothing easier to raise. They will grow anywhere and on almost any kind of soil. All that is necessary is to open a trench along the fence (or any where else) about three inches deep, drill the seed and replace the dirt. They will grow faster if cultivated, but they will grow without it. Why not raise Maples in the fence corners in the place of briars and weeds?

Court Day.

A large number of people came in Monday, but many of the farmers has tined with their business and returned to work. Business with the merchants was fairly good. The farmers said they were well in hand with their work, and think the prospects for good crops are much better than appeared a month ago. The wheat in most localities is doing well, the average of half a crop being looked for. The politicians had full sway, and much buttonholing was done. The glad hand prevailed, and much of the oh-be-joyful was in evidence.

Uncle Sam Can Help.

The Jessamine Journal says:—There is a great outcry from all parts of the country against blind tigers. But how can such evil be stopped when to a certain extent they are endorsed by the government. There are many blind tigers in Kentucky, the owner holding a receipt showing he has revenue license. That accounts for the boldness with which so many people sell whisky openly—that they have government license. No government officer should issue license to a white man or negro unless he positively knows that he will come within the bounds of the law; and to do this the government should require every individual, who applies for license, to hold an order from the judge in the county in which he lives. That would do away with so much of this thing of selling whisky without state or city license.

Odd Fellow's Carnival and Spring Festival.

The Monumental Carnival Company is replete in every thing of high character and of moral influence and will exhibit in this city the entire week of May 30th and June 4th and none need hesitate to visit it. In the several entertainments is The Old Plantation, the original negro minstrel, Little Nellie, the high diver, Si, the Indian snake eater, Lunette, the Flying Lady who flies through the air with the aid of electricity, the great Electric Theatre and the Kaola Sisters. There is also a first-class Ferris Wheel and merry-go round with the outfit.

Prof. Kelley and his marvelous Electric Theatre, which carries its own electrical plant, will be one of the leading attractions. The shows come especially well spoken of by pulpits and press, and is indeed a novel attraction. The different views presented by the kinetoscope connected with the show comprise scenes from all the leading events of the world in the past for years and will be doubtless appreciated here, especially by those seeking historical illustrations.

Don't Butt In.

Did you ever think of the number of people who walk up and "butt in" when two or more people are talking? It is distressing that people so far forget their good manners. It is almost impossible to hold a conversation on the street without some fellow walking up with the usual "Talking secrets?" While you may not be talking secrets, yet if two persons are standing to one side it is presumed that the subject under discussion is not for the public at large. Another very annoying habit is that practiced by some men who will walk in on a private office, take a seat, open their papers and proceed to gab while a business man is engaged with another party. Every person has some fault, but that of butting in is the worst. The other day, we saw a fellow enter a certain bank, stork right back into the private room where the cashier was talking with a gentleman, flop down into an easy chair and cock his brogans upon the table. Such a thing as apologizing for intruding, or even removing his hat seemed an unknown quantity to the fellow, and he had had opportunities to learn better, too. Good manners should never be forgotten, and this little squib is to remind those who so far forget themselves. A gentleman will act the gentleman under all circumstances.

'SP' cats snakes alive.

Meet me on the Midway.

Don't miss Little Nellie, the high Diver.

Spend at least one day at the street fair in Lancaster all next week.

Hurry! Hurry! come early and stay late and enjoy yourselves at the celebration next week.

Important Meeting.

There will be a very important meeting of the K. P. Lodge this (Friday) night, and every member is urged to be present.

Physical Culture Class.

Mr. Thos. C. Adams, who has been in Lancaster several days organizing a class in Physical Culture for men and boys, announces that on account of the coming of the Street Fair he will not open classes until the show shall have come and gone. Mr. Adams has secured a large number and predicts splendid results along Physiological lines. The Adams Bros., who travel and teach jointly, organized a second class in Stanford, which is now in progress. A second class for ladies was also taught there by Miss Adams.

Success on the Farm.

Success is what every farmer wants, and the following rules will contribute immeasurably towards bringing it. Have a place for everything and keep everything in its place. When doing using any tool or implement deposit it promptly in the place where it belongs. Study and plan to have as many conveniences around as possible. Exercise sociability and that with the neighbors, so that when help is needed it will be cheerfully rendered. Remember when anything needs fixing it should be attended to promptly. For instance, when the carriage wheels need packing, pack them at once. Packing is cheaper than boxing on axles. Repair promptly all broken harness, straps, snaps, cockeyes, buckles and especially the long lines of double seams when weak and likely to be torn apart when least expected. Never run any kind of machine a moment unless all bolts and bolt heads are in proper place. Keep all axles and other parts needing oiling well oiled on time. Take up every broken plank in the barn floor and every one that is weak and likely to break and replace it with a sound one. Contract no debt of any size unless you know before hand where the money is to be secured to pay it when due. Even then it would be best, as a rule, not to make the debt. Be scrupulously prompt in everything. Never postpone anything until tomorrow that should be attended to today. Finally, keep in mind the ideas, and act upon them, that to get along well, to carve out success, to get the most out of life, a good understanding of the sound theories and practices underlying a business, trade, calling or profession are essential, if the greatest measure of success is to be hoped for.—Cor. Epitomist.

Closing of Graded School.

The closing days of the recent term of the Graded School were by far the most enjoyable in the history of that splendid institution. The entire term was passed without the least friction between teachers, pupils or parents, something which seldom happens where so many young ideas are being taught to shoot, as the old saying goes. The fact that everybody is thoroughly satisfied with the work speaks volumes of praise for Prof. Mannix and his able corps of assistants, as the management of such an institution is a much more serious proposition than the public can conceive without daily visits to the school. Several very enjoyable entertainments were given, but our limited space forbids going into details. We wish to say, however, for the benefit of the taxpayers that The Record can assure them that their money has been not only spent in a judicious manner, but with far more judgment and discretion than the average trustee exercises. The school is doing a world of good for the community, and it seems to us that a taxpayer should pay his money for this purpose with much more pleasure and willingness than for any other purpose. At the proper time, the trustees will publish a statement to show the taxpayer just where his money has gone, a matter the law requires of all public officials, but which has never been done save by a few.

Commencement week was concluded by the graduating exercises in Christian church Tuesday evening. The invocation was by Elder F. M. Tindler, diplomas delivered by Hon. William J. Price, of Danville, the benediction by Rev. C. M. Chumbley. Mrs. Taylor, of Lexington, presided at the pipe organ, the music being exceptionally good. There were seven graduates, essays and addresses showed deep thought and careful preparation. They were delivered in a splendid manner, and many compliments were showered upon the readers and speakers. The graduates were Miss Edith M. Morrow, Mr. Robert Chester Powell, Miss Janie Gordon Doty, Mr. Chas. A. Mahan, Miss Florence C. Hammond, Mr. Robert Ware McRoberts, Mr. Wm. Ross Bastin. The church was crowded, many being unable to gain admission. The large crowd showed the interest taken in the school by our people, and also went to prove that the people are interested in the school and its welfare.

Through Sleeper from Lexington to St. Louis via Chesapeake & Ohio Railway.—Beginning April 28th, the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway will inaugurate a through sleeping car line to St. Louis via Louisville and the Southern Railway, to leave Lexington daily at 5:20 p. m. and reach St. Louis at 7:30 a. m. Returning, this sleeper will leave St. Louis at 10:10 p. m. and will reach Lexington on C & O train number 22 11:10 a. m. the next morning.

Advice to Candidates.

The lion and the lamb shall lie down together—that's politics. Every man that says he is for you is sure to vote for you—that's a lie. Say you are forced by your friends to be a candidate—that's hot air. Begin making promises early—that's sure defeat. Believe every one who says they have a power of influence if they only had a few dollars—that's bankruptcy. Worry over every report you hear—that's insanity. Kiss the babies—that's deceit. Patronize church fairs and benevolent entertainments—that's business.

Why Not Try This?

As warm weather has arrived, why not fall in line with other up-to-date towns and close the stores at 7 o'clock every night? It is done in every other live town, so why not here? The clerks and merchants are always at work by 7 a. m. and in warm weather, a little recreation is not only enjoyable, but a necessity. All this talk about after supper trade is bosh, and if you want to do good work, you cannot work fourteen hours a day. If you adopt the plan and live up to it, the customers will soon become accustomed to it and not expect you to be there all day and night too. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, and life is too short too wear out by over and unnecessary work.

Tobacco Outlook.

Indications are that a larger area than usual will be set in tobacco this Spring, but the crop will be set ten days or two weeks later than usual. It is time now to begin setting the crop, and but few plants are large enough for transplanting. If they were they would hardly be set just now as the cut worms are very bad in cold weather. The prices this winter have been fair and just now are abnormally high. The stocks now on hand will have been consumed before the new crop will be ready for market, with empty warehouses and increasing demand, prices will hardly go back to the starvation rates that have prevailed for several years, even if a large crop should be raised this year.

Says We're Selfish.

It looks as if the Lancaster Fishing Club is trying to get a corner on all the available fishing places in Central Kentucky. Not content with having Dix river leased a mile and a half above and below King's Mill, they will to night try to lease the new lake at Lancaster with the specific understanding that only persons living in Lancaster may fish there. There are some good men in that Fishing Club, and we are at a loss to understand why men who have always been generous in other affairs, should become so selfish over a few fishing places as to want to corner all the fishing places in two counties.—Danville Advocate.

In explanation, The Record will say that only Lancaster men are wanted as members of the club. As it will require over two years' work to thoroughly stock the lake, and at the same time cost money, no man with a thimbleful of sense wishes to do the work or spend his cash for the benefit of the general public who would immediately butt in and reap the benefits of other people's labor. It is the club's intention, when the fish are "ripe," to invite its friends to enjoy the sport, but the public at large must keep out. As to the lease at the river, the writer is also a member of that club but has never been there, and, in fact knows nothing of the club's workings, but we do know that invitations have been extended to many to visit the leased property, the writer having sent several to friends in the Advocate's town. No, Sam, you are away off if you think there is any selfish motive in the matter. On the other hand, the members are striving to secure a place of recreation to which they can invite their friends, and, as we understand it, lease the property to keep away seiners and dynamiters who, as all know, are destroying the fish in all Kentucky streams.

Excursion to St. Louis.

Lancaster Excursion Club will give an excursion on the 28th of June to the World's Fair, St. Louis. Those contemplating going will do well to get our rates, and join the party leaving here by special coaches, going direct, without change. This party will be chaperoned by Mrs. Dr. W. S. Beazley and met by Mr. Henley Bastin who has been located on World's Fair grounds for the past two months. Thus enabling all going with us to make the trip and see the Fair with the least expense.

Quarters have been secured at leading Hotel, main entrance of grounds, that no time may be lost going or coming to or from the Fair.

All information and particulars of trip will be furnished any one calling at Telephone Office or writing Miss Bettie Anderson, Secretary, Lancaster, or call phone 171.

CENTRAL RECORD.

LOUIS LANDRAM.

Entered at the Post Office in Lancaster, Ky., as Second-Class Mail Matter.

Lancaster, Ky., May 27, 1904.

They say that, no matter how big a human being becomes, there is a streak of meanness in him somewhere, and sooner or later it will show. Russell Sage has lost a million dollars at a clip and viewed the disaster philosophically. But he will haggle over the price of an apple and allow himself to be annoyed by trivial things that really should not concern him, says an editorial in the Cincinnati Post. Hetty Green, with her millions is credited with moving out of a comfortable office because her rent was advanced $2 a month. She has done even smaller things than that in a financial way. Mrs. "Jack" Gardner, the rich leader of society in Boston, contested most bitterly a suit of John Williams, colored, for $88.50. She maintained that he was only entitled to $15 for shoveling snow from her sidewalk. She lost the suit. An Ohio man, with nearly a million dollars to his credit and with no possibility of even spending his income, built a brick block six inches inside his lot line and remarked, "Some day somebody will want to use my wall, and the price of that six inch strip of land will surprise him." It did. The man who wanted to build adjoining was surprised that a wealthy man should descend to such a petty trick in order to make a few unnecessary dollars. He refused to be bled, and today two fine blocks stand side by side, and between them there is a space of six inches to measure greed and smallness of mind. All of which goes to prove that the possession of money seldom broadens a mind, but does emphasize eccentricities. The rich man may be able to purchase toleration for his peculiarities, but he can not buy respect when his natural meanness is apparent. Humanity may remember Sage as an able financier. It will remember his miserly manner of living longer. All the good acts of the man who placed his building six inches from the lot line have not sufficed to wipe out the memory of that one sneaking, little, contemptible business act. Men are ONLY MEN, after all.

Any man who says that he is a gentleman is not a gentleman, remarks an exchange. A gentleman no more tells you that he is a gentleman than a brave man tells you he is brave. Gentility is a quality which the possessor never seeks to establish as his own by word of mouth; he leaves it to inference and the rule has no exception. This brilliant speechlessness arises not through modesty but ignorance. However clearly gentility reveals itself to others, he who possesses it has no more knowledge on that faultless point than have your hills of the yellow gold they hold within their breasts.

An undertaker advertises in an exchange that he will have a "clean-up sale," giving special bargains in coffins and embalming. We know several fellows who, if they read of this, are so stingy that they will immediately die to get advantage of the low rates offered, so, in order to do all the good we can for the community, we give his offer all publicity we can.

J P Morgan, the great trust promoter and financier, has his cigars made for him specially in Havana. One of his smokes costs exactly forty-five cents. We would not give one puff of our good old Garrard county long green, in a corn cob pipe, for Morgan's entire stock of cigars, and will venture to say his smokes taste and smell like carpet rags or cabbage leaves.

Russia can stand the loss of troops much better than she can stand the decline in her securities. Troops are a great deal easier to raise than credit.

It seems hardly probable that the Russians are deliberately blowing up their own ships. They must have learned to depend upon accident for this sort of thing.

A New Jersey judge has decided that a boy is worth twice as much as a girl. The czar of Russia and the king of Italy no doubt agree with him.

A New York doctor has found a germicide in colors. Maybe the "dark brown taste" is not such a bad thing after all.

The Jap war news is about as interesting as a temperance lecture. Only those who have nothing else to do read it.

A Startling Test.
To save a life, Dr T G Merritt, of No. Mehopyan, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes, "A patient was attacked with hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first, and has not had an attack in 14 months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50c at McRoberts' Drug Store.

Booze and business make fine pace makers for bankruptcy.

White remarked, "If the people were all as good as that man, there would be no need of jails and court houses."

Middlesboro Record:—A protracted meeting will begin at the Christian church tomorrow. The meeting will be conducted by the pastor assisted by Dr F M Tinder, of Lancaster. A Sure Thing.

It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr King's New Discovery for Consumption is a sure cure for lung and throat troubles. Thousands can testify to that. Mrs C B Van Metre, of Shepherdstown, W Va., says, "I had a severe case of Bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle of Dr King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely." It's infallible for Croup, Whooping Cough, Grip, Pneumonia and Consumption. Try it. It is guaranteed by McRoberts, Druggist. An Open Letter.

From the Chapin, S C News: Early in the spring my wife and I were taken with diarrhoea and so severe were the pains that we called a physician, who prescribed for us, but his medicines failed to give any relief. A friend who had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand gave each of us a dose and we at once felt the effects. I procured a bottle and before using the entire contents were entirely cured. It is a wonderful remedy and should be found in every household. H C Bailey, Editor. This remedy is for sale by Frisbie's Drug Store.

Happiness is best when it comes from within.

Whooping Cough.

I think this is the best remedy I have ever seen for whooping cough." This remedy keeps the cough loose, lessens the severity and frequency of the coughing spell and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. For sale by Frisbie's Drug Store.

ODD FELLOWS' DAY WEDNESDAY.

The Tournament.

The State Tournament to be given by the Lancaster Athletic Association June 22, 23, 24, will be one of the most enjoyable events in the history of Lancaster. Entries have come from all parts of the state, and some of the best athletes, singers, declaimers and speakers will be here. The young gentlemen at the head of the project have worked faithfully, and secured premiums that will be highly treasured by the winners. A feature of the event will be the election of the Queen. Entries from several towns have been made, and by the end of this week the voting will be on in earnest. Tickets have been placed on sale, and if you have a favorite put her name in nomination and then hustle for votes. The votes are only five cents each, thus insuring a lively race. In next issue of The Record we will give a list of entries and how they stand. The town will be filled with visitors during the Tournament, and, as stated above, the event will be one of the most pleasant in the history of our little city.

A Successful Treatment.

The practice of Osteopathy has grown in public favor more rapidly than has any modern discovery, and the wonderful cures effected, and the relief from pain it has produced has drawn the attention of the people with wonderful rapidity. The exercising of the muscles, the building up of weak nerves, and the bringing back of lost circulation by means of rubbing and exercising it seems would have been practiced long ago, but strange to say it has only been done in recent years. An osteopath gives no medicine, but simply follows out nature's laws, and in almost every case permanent relief is found. To practice osteopathy, one must study for more than two years, all this time being given to the study of the nerves, veins, muscles and general make up of the body, so, when one graduates, he is thoroughly versed on such matters, and knows just how to exercise these portions of the body, as well as the heart, liver, stomach, bowels, etc. Lancaster is very fortunate to have Dr. Sid Isbell located here, and he is kept busy all the time, accomplishing some wonderful cures. He is located on Danville street, at the Hamilton House.

FRISBIE'S DRUG STORE

Enters Upon New Duties.

A Nashville paper prints the following: Services were conducted on Sunday morning and evening at the Vine street Christian church by Rev. Geo. Gowen. This was the beginning of Mr. Gowen's pastorate here. He was called several weeks ago from Broadway church, Louisville, and arrived in Nashville on Friday last. He succeeds the pastorate made vacant by the retirement on Jan. 1, last of Rev. W. E. Ellis.

In taking up his pastorate in Nashville Mr. Gowen is but returning to his own people. He was born in Tullahoma, and after entering the ministry preached there and also in Murfreesboro and Fayetteville. He went from here to Kentucky, where he has filled several pulpits. He was for some time at Broadway church, Louisville, leaving there only in response to the call from the Vine street Christian church congregation, of Nashville.

One of the largest congregations the church has ever sheltered was present on Sunday morning to welcome Mr. Gowen to his new pastorate and field. It was a congregation attentive at first and more interested as his sermon progressed, for Mr. Gowen is a forceful, earnest speaker, a scholar and a thinker.

He received a cordial and hearty welcome and expressed his gratitude that in the providence of God he was permitted to be here and begin work with and for the Vine street congregation. Nothing but a profound sense of duty and overmastering conviction that this is the field for him, he said, could have ever induced him to leave his charge in Louisville. He said that he would not preach a formal introductory sermon, for he had never paid the small tribute to conventionality of even a short piece of "red tape" in the shape of an "introductory" or "farewell" sermon. He had preached first and last sermons but never introductory or farewell ones. He said he had purposes, plans, ideas and methods relative to church work in general and this work in particular which would be presented as emergencies arose or opportunities were presented for their adoption or execution.

He esteemed it no small honor, he said, to stand in the place so recently occupied by such godly and efficient men as W. E. Ellis and R. L. Lin Cave, and to enter into the labors of such heroes as Phillip S. Fall and Samuel Kelley. He said he would try by the grace of God to carry forward the work they had inaugurated. To this end he begged the prayers, patience, sympathy and encouragement of all his people. He said he was well acquainted with the situation, knew the difficulties to be met and the conditions confronting him; and he was willing to take his full share of the responsibility of grappling with them. There must be no white flag of surrender, he declared, no note of retreat, no backward step. "Progress" should be the watchword. As to outlining, in a general way, the spirit that should actuate both preacher and people in the service of the master, he preached a sermon on "The Fellowship of Christ's Yoke."
